June, 1954

Even in August, PHALAENOPSIS seedlings always make a fast-selling "Bargain", so I'll be surprised if I have any of these left by the end of June! If you don't own any of these lovely, graceful, long lasting "Moth Orchids", stop now and read Page N in your folder.

Has anyone told you "Orchids are ugly when they're not in bloom"?

He was not talking about a Phalaenopsis plant! The smooth, broad, green leaves are almost as pretty as the cascading sprays of mothlike flowers. They outgrow most other Orchids and the blooms outlast most other blooms. When a spray finally does start to fade, cut it, but not too close to plant and it will branch and bloom again. Don't keep doing that all year, though, or you will wear out the plant!

From flask to first bloom in thirty-six months is not at all unusual for well grown Phalaenopsis (warmth, water and food, but not too much sun, are required). From community pots, they can be bloomed in 24 months with good care.

THE FOLLOWING FOUR WHITE PHALAENOPSIS HYBRIDS ARE IN $2\frac{1}{2}$ -INCH POTS
(Grown as instructed on Page N, they should bloom next Spring.)

#Ph-5 PHALAENOPSIS GRACE PALM (Doris X Winged Victory) - Nice, round, heavy-textured White blooms.

#Ph-6 P. DORIS X BENSON'S #17 - Somewhat more oval in shape but excellent form and texture. Semi-circle of butter yellow in throat.

#Ph-7 P. FIELD'S #407 X P. DORIS - Another Benson hybrid, crossed with Doris, made Field's #407. Equally good in form and crisp whiteness.

#Ph-8 P. FIELD'S #407 X P. BLIZZARD - Blizzard is a French hybrid that has been making a name for itself since 1945, when it was registered.
